

Cyclone Guba forms off Queensland coast

November 14, 2007 04:49pm

Article from: AAP

A TROPICAL cyclone has formed off the coast of far north Queensland but is unlikely to threaten the coast, the Bureau of Meteorology says.

Category one tropical cyclone Guba formed this afternoon about 140km north-east of Lockhart River, forecaster Geoff Doueal said.

He said it was unlikely to hit the Queensland coast but residents between Thursday Island and Cape Flattery were being warned to consider contingency plans if the cyclone threat increases.

Tropical cyclone Guba is expected to develop into a category two tomorrow and a category three by Friday.
